AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS, IRELAND, 1912.

REPORT

TO THE

SECRETARY OF THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND TECHNICAL INSTRUCTION FOR IRELAND.

SIR,

I have the honour to submit the detailed Annual Report on the Agricultural Statistics of Ireland for the year 1912. The present statistics, while including, for convenience of reference, and for the purpose of permanent record, several of the tables previously issued in the General Abstracts showing the Acreage under Crops, and the Numbers of Live Stock, and in the series of returns of the yields of the several crops, issued during the past year, furnish in addition (1) particulars of the number and size of agricultural holdings and of their distribution; (2) a comparative record of the changes which have taken place in the several counties during the past ten years as regards the extent and yield of the chief crops and the numbers of live stock; (3) statistics of the area of the chief kinds of bush and tree fruits; and (4), statistics of the area under woods and coppice, and of planting and felling operations.

The usual summary tables presented on pp. 2 et seq. show some of the salient points of the detailed tables, and also certain general and comparative statistics relating to agriculture.

The total area of Ireland was returned in the Census of 1911 as 20,371,125 statute acres. This total includes

Division of Land. 120,329 acres under water, but excludes close on half a million acres (481,293) under the large rivers, lakes, and tideways.

It will be seen from the following table that the area under corn and green crops, flax and fruit, amounted in 1912 to 2,358,056 acres or 11·6 per cent. of the total area, the area under hay to 2,487,349 acres, or 12·2 per cent. of the total area, and the area of rotation and permanent pasture to 9,828,373 acres, or 48·2 per cent. of the total area. If to the pasture is added the grazed mountain land the total grazed area amounted to 12,411,853 acres or 60·9 per cent. of the total area of Ireland. Woods and plantations amounted to 298,735 acres, or 1·5 per cent. of the total area, while the remaining area, 2,815,127 acres, or 13·8 per cent. of the total area, consisted of bog, barren mountain, water, roads, building lands, waste, &c. In connection with this latter figure it will be seen by reference to Table I. page 23, that the area of barren or ungrazed mountain was returned in 1912 at 471,995 acres, the area of turf bog at 877,784 acres, the area of marsh at 363,229 acres, and the area of water, roads, building lands—including the area of towns and villages—waste, &c., at 1,102,119 acres.

A detailed comparison of the acreage under crops and hay in 1911 and 1912 has already been made in the "General Abstracts showing the Acreage under Crops," &c. [Cd. 6375, 1912.] A summary table showing the changes in the acreage of the several crops will be found on page 4 of the present report, and particulars of the acreage of crops in each County and Poor Law Union in 1912 will be found on pp. 34 et seq.

As regards the main changes which have taken place during the past sixty years these are seen in the following table, which shows the areas respectively under corn crops, green crops and flax, and hay, in each Census year from 1851 to 1911, and in 1912 :—

TABLE showing the Area under Corn Crops, Green Crops and Flax and Hay, in Ireland in each of the years 1851, 1861, 1871, 1881, 1901, 1911 and 1912 :—

	Rate per cent., 59.2	28.8	99.6	17.6

From this table it will be seen that in each decade from 1851 to 1901 there was a rapid fall in the area of corn crops, though the prices of cereals were, on the whole, well maintained both in Great Britain and in Ireland until 1878, and the marked fall in prices did not take place until after 1884. In the case of green crops the shrinkage in the area began considerably later than in cereals, for while there was to some extent a falling away in the acreage of green crops, in the later sixties, it was not until after 1875 that the decline in their acreage became regular and heavy. While the acreage of corn crops green crops and flax has fallen since 1851 by 2,269,705 acres, the area of hay has increased by over 1,000,000 acres, this increase being especially marked between 1851 and 1881 and in the last decade.

It is of interest when considering these figures to have in view the changes in the same crop areas during the past ten years as shown in the following table:—

TABLE showing the Area under Corn Crops, Green Crops and Flax, and Hay, in Ireland in each year from 1903 to 1912, inclusive:—

				40,658	27,317	263,184	195,209
				Rate per cent.,
				3.1	2.5	11.8	4.2

From this table it will be seen that the fall in the area of corn crops has amounted, in the ten years 1903-1912, to 40,658 acres, or 3.1 per cent. of the total area, while the decrease in green crops, including flax, amounted to 27,317 acres, or 2.5 per cent. Meanwhile the area under hay has increased by 263,184 acres, or 11.8 per cent.

The shrinkage in the area of crops during the past sixty years has been very marked in all four provinces, but it is of interest to compare the changes in the extent of the corn, green crops, and hay acreage at different periods respectively in Leinster, Munster, Ulster and Connaught.

The following summaries show the crop acreage by provinces for the Census years from 1851 to 1911 and for 1912:—

With regard to the changes which have taken place in the areas of the several corn and grain crops the following table gives a summarised return for the several Changes in the area of Corn Crops, 1851-1912. Census years from 1851, and for the year 1912 :—

Wheat.

The great decline in the wheat area has chiefly affected the provinces of Leinster and Munster. In 1851 the area of wheat in Leinster was 202,578 acres, in Munster 180,260 acres, in Ulster 90,188 acres, and in Connaught 31,213 acres. In 1912 the area of wheat in Leinster was 17,891 acres, in Munster 13,165 acres, in Ulster 8,719 acres, and in Connaught 5,080 acres.

Oats.

With regard to oats, which in 1912 represented 1,046,000 acres, out of a total area of corn crops amounting to 1,265,687 acres, the decline has been very marked in all four provinces, but chiefly affected Leinster and Ulster. In 1851 the area under oats was in Leinster 614,535 acres, in Munster 399,534 acres, in Ulster 888,419 acres, and in Connaught 287,287 acres. In 1912 the area in Leinster was 227,891 acres, in Munster 208,274 acres, in Ulster 497,257 acres, and in Connaught 112,578 acres. It will be seen that at the present day almost half the total acreage of oats is in Ulster.

Barley and Bere.

The total area under barley and bere has declined from 335,964 acres in 1851 to 165,367 acres in 1912, or by over 49 per cent. In 1851 the acreage of barley and bere in Leinster was 125,392 acres as compared with 115,857 acres in 1912; in Munster it was 137,568 acres as compared with 41,259 acres in 1912; in Ulster it was 42,924 acres in 1851 as compared with 4,250 in 1912; and in Connaught it was 30,080 acres in 1851 as compared with 4,001 in 1912. The decrease in Leinster has been small in comparison with the great decrease in each of the other provinces.

Rye.

In the case of rye the decline in the acreage has taken place chiefly in Ulster and in Leinster. In Ulster, in 1851, the acreage of rye was 6,942 acres as compared with 1,288 in 1912; in Leinster 3,940 acres in 1851 as compared with 919 acres in 1912; and in Munster 2,838 acres in 1851 as compared with 1,397 acres in 1912. In Connaught the area of rye has changed to a much less extent, being 5,977 acres in 1851 and 4,261 acres in 1912.

With regard to the changes in the area of green crops, and flax the following table presents the figures for each Census year from 1851 and for the year 1912:—

TABLE showing the area under the various Green Crops and Flax in each of the years 1851, 1861, 1871, 1881, 1891, 1901, 1911, and 1912:—

Potatoes.

The heavy decline in the area of potatoes since 1861 has taken place in all four provinces. In 1861 the area in Leinster amounted to 214,558 acres, in Munster to 291,000 acres, in Ulster to 388,417 acres, and in Connaught to 239,529 acres. In 1912 the area under potatoes was in Leinster 109,950 acres, in Munster 120,526 acres, in Ulster 249,055 acres, and in Connaught 115,653 acres. Proportionately to the total area of potatoes the decrease has been greatest in Munster and least in Ulster.

Turnips and Mangels.

The shrinkage in area began earlier in the case of turnips than in potatoes, but, allowing for the increase which has taken place in mangels, has been much less marked. In Leinster in 1851 the area under turnips was 104,069 acres, and under mangels 13,344 acres. In 1912 the area under turnips was 91,111 acres, and under mangels 28,399 acres. Thus there has been a slight increase in Leinster in the combined areas under turnips and mangels. In Munster there has been a considerable shrinkage, the area under turnips in 1851 amounting to 125,493 acres, as compared with 73,842 acres in 1912. But against this decline has to be set an increase in the area of mangels from 7,470 acres in 1851 to 38,471 acres in 1912. In Ulster the area of turnips in 1851 was 108,216 acres. In 1861 the area had fallen to 81,973 acres, but rose again to 90,479 acres in 1871. In 1912 the area amounted to 81,272 acres. The area of mangels in Ulster is small. In 1851 it was 3,761 acres, and in 1912 it amounted to 5,026 acres. In Connaught the area under turnips has always been very limited, but notwithstanding this, the decline, proportionately to the area, has been more marked than in any other province. In 1851 there were 45,770 acres in Connaught under turnips, as compared with 24,746 acres in 1912. The area of mangels in 1851 was 1,272 acres and in 1912 amounted to 9,804 acres.

Cabbage.

An increase in the area of cabbage in the period 1851-1912 has taken place in each of the provinces except Ulster, but especially in Munster, where the area in 1851 was 8,063 acres, and in 1912, 16,597 acres.

Flax.

In the case of flax, of the total area in 1851 of 140,536 acres, there were in Ulster 125,407 acres, in Leinster 4,889 acres, in Munster 5,991 acres, and in Connaught 4,249 acres. The great decline in the area has taken place in the past thirty-two years, the area returned for Ulster in 1881 being 143,873 acres. The area in 1912 was in Ulster 54,446 acres, in Leinster 46 acres, in Munster 388 acres, and in Connaught 182 acres.

Hay.

While the area of corn and green crops has been shrinking the area of hay has been extending. The following table shows the total area under hay in each Census year from 1851 and in the year 1912:—

Total Area under Hay, 1851-1912.

					ACRES.
1851,	1,246,408
1861,	1,346,206
1871,	1,829,044
1881,	2,001,029
1891,	2,059,529
1901,	2,175,592
1911,	2,512,403
1912,	2,487,349

With these figures may be compared the following table showing the total area of hay in each of the past ten years :—

Total Area under Hay, 1903-1912. ACRES.
1903,	2,234,165
1904,	2,260,160
1905,	2,294,506
1906,	2,330,016
1907,	2,281,318
1908,	2,298,793
1909,	2,278,538
1910,	2,421,587
1911,	2,512,408
1912,	2,487,349

Thus it appears that since 1851 there was in each decade a marked increase in the area of hay, with the exception of the ten years from 1881 to 1891, when the increase was comparatively small.

It will be seen from the summary table on page vi. that in 1912 the area under first year's hay amounted to 523,889 acres, the area under second and third years' hay to 393,057 acres, and the area of hay on permanent meadow to 1,570,373 acres. The area of rotation hay is largest in Ulster and in Leinster. The largest area of hay on permanent meadow is in Munster. In Connaught the area under permanent meadow is very large in proportion to the extent of rotation hay.

Pasture.

The total area under corn crops, green crops, flax and hay, amounted in 1851 to 5,858,951 acres, and in 1912 to 4,830,187 acres—a decrease of 1,028,764 acres. This figure represents approximately the increase in the area of pasture in the period 1851 to 1912. There have also been changes from year to year in the grazed area of moor, marsh, and mountain land, but this marginal grazing land is always difficult to classify and to compare, and its value is relatively small. In 1912 the area of pasture, other than grazed mountain, amounted to 9,828,373 acres, while the area of grazed mountain land amounted to 2,583,485 acres, the total area of pasture and rough grazing being 12,411,858 acres.

Fruit.

Owing to the increasing importance of the fruit crop in Ireland returns have been obtained in the past seven years differentiating as far as possible the areas under the chief separate classes of fruit. As will be readily understood, however, there is considerable difficulty in making a return of the areas respectively of the several fruit crops owing to the large extent to which these are grown mixed in the same area. As far as possible the extents of the several crops have been returned separately, though, as will be seen from table 13, p. 94, the area returned as under mixed fruit represents a very considerable proportion of the total area of fruit.

The total area of fruit in 1912 was returned as 15,218 acres as compared with 14,045 acres in 1911, an increase of 1,173 acres. There were in Ulster 8,626 acres—more than half the total area under fruit in Ireland—in Leinster 3,174 acres, in Munster 2,709 acres, and in Connaught 709 acres. Much the largest extent of fruit is in County

Armagh, where there were 5,101 acres in 1912, the next largest total being that of County Cork, amounting to 1,093 acres. The total area of fruit in Ireland, returned as 15,218 acres, was divided as follows:—Gooseberries, 657 acres; strawberries, 684 acres; raspberries, 280 acres; red and white currants, 149 acres; black currants, 269 acres; apples, 8,020 acres; pears, 194 acres; plums, 195 acres; damsons, 195 acres; other fruits, 134 acres; while there were 4,441 acres returned as under mixed fruits.

Varieties of Potatoes.

Since 1880 an annual return has been made of the acreage of each variety of potato in Ireland. As already stated, the acreage under potatoes in Ireland in 1912 was 595,184, as compared with 591,259 acres in the year 1911, showing an increase of 3,925 acres.

The acreage under each of the principal varieties of potatoes planted in 1912, with the percentage of the total, was as follows:—

—	Acre.	Per Cent.	—	Acre.	Per Cent.
Champions, ..	319,156	53·6	Irish Queens, ..	8,647	5·8
Up-to-Date, ..	109,152	18·3	American Early Rose, ..	4,950

Sutton's, ..	17,659	2·9	All Others, ..	14,878
Flounders, ..	10,572	1·8

The main feature of this statement is that 53·6 per cent. of the acreage under the potato crop in Ireland consisted of Champions, leaving only 46·4 per cent. for all other varieties—the percentage of some of these being so small as to be barely appreciable when put into figures.

From the following table it will be seen that during the past twenty years the area of Champions has greatly decreased in extent and also in proportion to the total area under potatoes. In 1893 the area amounted to 572,685 acres, or 79·1 per cent. of the total acreage of potatoes, whereas in 1912 it was only 319,156 acres, or 53·6 per cent. of the total acreage.

A reference to table 11, pages 86-87, where the acreage under potatoes is set out for each variety by counties and provinces and for the whole of Ireland, will show that the proportion of Champions is much the greatest in Connaught and Munster. On the other hand in the County of Antrim the area of Up-to-Dates, in Down of Up-to-Dates, British Queen's and Black Skerries, in Dublin of British Queen's and Up-to-Dates, and in Londonderry Up-to-Dates is in each case, greater than that of Champions, while there are also large areas of other varieties of potatoes.

The decline in the area under the corn crops, green crops and flax is a feature which stands out in the history of agriculture not only in Ireland, but also in England and Wales, and to a less degree in Scotland. The following tables present summarily the changes in the areas under corn crops, green crops and flax since 1867, from which year comparative information is available:—

(a) Not distinguished in Returns for 1867.

The estimated produce of the crops of 1912 has been already published in a series of statements showing the Produce of Crops. yield in the several counties. Summary tables showing the total produce of the several crops, the average yield per statute acre, and a comparison of yields for the past ten years will be found on pp. 6-8 of this report. The following summary states briefly the position as regards the several crops.

Hay.

The damp character of the months of May and June favoured the yield of first crop hay, but the continued wet weather delayed cutting much beyond the normal period. Even at 1st July very few fields had been cut. The favourable spell which set in at 4th July and lasted over the first fortnight of the month enabled saving of the earlier fields to be proceeded with, and this portion of the crop alone was of prime quality. The greater bulk of the crop which was cut later in July suffered much deterioration in handling owing to rain. The cutting of second and third crop as well as old meadow hay was delayed in the hope of fine weather, and saving of both crops was not general till the middle of August. Much of this later portion of the crop also suffered severely from the weather conditions during saving, though the fine bright spell which set in at the beginning of September repaired the damage to some extent. Yields all round were heavier than in 1911, but the quality was not nearly so good. A large bulk was very inferior as fodder owing to over-ripeness before being cut and damage through prolonged exposure to rain.

The average yields per statute acre of the three descriptions of hay in the two seasons were as follows:—

1ST YEAR'S HAY.		2ND AND THIRD YEARS' HAY.		PERMANENT MEADOW.
1912.	1911.	1912.	1911.	1912.	1911.
Tons. 1.9	Tons. 1.8	Tons. 1.8	Tons. 1.6	Tons. 2.1	Tons. 1.8

The total quantity of first year's hay was estimated at 1,002,433 tons in 1912, as compared with 949,837 tons in 1911; second and third years' hay at 707,589 tons in 1912, as compared with 623,909 tons in 1911, and hay from permanent meadow at 3,295,564 tons, as compared with 2,900,821 tons in 1911.

Grain Crops.

The lack of heat and the excessive rains in 1912 were unfavourable to the wheat crop, which turned out under average in yield. Oats, on the other hand, cut a heavy crop and threshed out very satisfactorily, the yield being well over the return of 1911 and the best for a number of years. Barley yields varied considerably in different counties, but the average was somewhat below that of 1911. Threshing of the three crops was done under fairly favourable conditions; the yield of straw was large and of good quality.

The average rates of yield in grain crops in 1912 as compared with those for 1911 and for the ten years 1902-11 were as follows :—

—			Wheat.	Oats.	Barley and Bere.	Rye.	Beans.	Pease.
			cwts.	cwts.	cwts.	cwts.	cwts.	cwts.
1911.	19.7	16.3	19.2	14.5	19.2	14.9

Average for 1902-1911 ..			19.3	16.7	18.6	14.0	22.7	15.0

In 1912 there was a decrease of 201 acres in the area of wheat, an increase of 5,815 acres in the area of oats, an increase of 7,187 acres in the area of barley, a decrease of 1,261 acres in the area of rye, a decrease of 262 acres in the area of beans, and a decrease of 33 acres in the area of pease. The total estimated yield of wheat in 1912 was 837,826 cwts., a decrease of 49,362 cwts. as compared with 1911; of oats 19,104,975 cwts., an increase of 2,188,559 cwts.; of barley 3,110,924 cwts., an increase of 68,686 cwts.; of rye 119,014 cwts., a decrease of 11,550 cwts.; of beans 31,824 cwts., a decrease of 560 cwts.; and of pease 4,186 cwts., a decrease of 305 cwts.

Potatoes.

The average yield of the potato crop in Ireland in 1912 was estimated at 4.3 tons per statute acre, as against 6.2 tons in 1911, and 4.8 tons for the ten-year period—1903-1911. The acreage of the crop in 1912 amounted to 595,184 acres, as against 591,259 acres in 1911, an increase of 3,925 acres. The total produce of the crop in 1912 was estimated at 2,546,710 tons, as against 3,694,856 tons in 1911.

The planting of the potato seed was delayed much later than usual owing to unfavourable weather conditions, and was not completed until near the middle of May. Night frosts about the 23rd of that month did much harm to fields over ground, especially where low-lying.

The abnormally heavy rainfall of June prevented the crop from being satisfactorily worked. It also encouraged the growth of weeds, which could not be kept under. The low temperature and lack of sunshine throughout the remainder of the growing period, besides causing an early appearance of blight, was not favourable to satisfactory yields. Thorough and timely spraying of the crop was also much checked by the continuous rains. The crop in consequence proved to be considerably below average both in regard to yield and the quality of the tubers. The proportion of those unsound was also much larger than in other seasons. Best yields were obtained on light dry sandy soils, which were less affected by the heavy rainfall.

The average rate for the Province of Leinster was 4.0 tons per statute acre in 1912, as against 5.4 tons in 1911. In Munster the average was 3.8 tons in 1912 as against 4.7 tons in 1911. In Ulster the average was 4.4 tons in 1912, as against 7.3 tons in 1911. In Connaught the yield was 4.8 tons in 1912 as against 6.4 tons in 1911.

Roots and Cabbage.

An unfavourable period of weather at seeding time caused both turnips and mangels to reach the thinning stage much later than usual. The continuously wet conditions which succeeded thinning prevented fields from being worked, and both crops suffered much from this cause as well as from the overgrowth of weeds. Except in occasional fields on high, dry situations overlying a porous sub-soil, the crops were checked throughout the summer by the cold, damp conditions which prevailed. The season must be regarded as one of the worst for root crops that was experienced for some years, and the average yields per acre were in consequence decidedly below those of 1911. The yield of carrots was also below that of 1911, but parsnips turned out satisfactorily. Cabbages suffered likewise from excessive moisture and lack of heat; the yield though below that of 1911 was in excess of the average for the past ten years.

The average rates of yield per statute acre of above crops in 1912, as compared with 1911, and the average for the ten years 1902-1911, were as follows:—

—			Turnips.	Mangel Wurzel and Beet Root.	Carrots.	Parsnips.	Cabbage.
			Tons.	Tons.	Tons.	Tons.	Tons.
1911,	19.8	22.3	11.8	10.7	13.2

Average, 1902-1911,			17.0	18.8	10.0	9.9	10.7

In 1912 there was an increase of 966 acres in the area of turnips, while the total yield was 3,783,218 tons, a decrease of 1,489,965 tons as compared with 1911. In the case of mangels there was an increase of 3,843 acres, and a total yield of 1,301,048 tons, a decrease of 433,500 tons as compared with 1911. Carrots showed a decrease of 112 acres in area, and a total yield of 11,945 tons, a decrease of 5,155 tons; parsnips a decrease in area of 45 acres, and a total yield of 7,277 tons, a decrease of 163 tons in comparison with 1911. Cabbage showed an increase of 669 acres in area, and a total yield of 453,169 tons, being a decrease of 40,248 tons as compared with 1911.

Flax.

Seeding of the flax crop in 1912 was carried out under favourable conditions of weather and soil; growers, however, owing to the low temperature prevailing, delayed sowing until fully a fortnight later than usual. The earliest sown fields were much checked by the night frosts at the end of May, and the crop made little progress during the abnormally cold, wet weather which prevailed throughout the month of June. Much improvement was to be noted during July, and as pulling time approached, fields carried a heavy bulk of green straw, notwithstanding the continuous cold and wet conditions of the growing period. The pulling, steeping, and saving operations were rendered especially difficult owing to the broken weather, and much of the crop was damaged through over-exposure to rain while on the grass. The crop, as a whole, pulled out an over-average yield of green straw, but considerable distrust was felt among growers as to the proportion of fibre it would produce at the mill.

Contrary to expectation, yields proved to be more satisfactory than was at one time anticipated from the nature of the season. The average production of fibre for the year worked out at 37.6 stones per statute acre, as compared with 27.0 stones in 1911, and was 5.8 stones above the average of 31.8 stones for the ten years 1902-11.

Fibre, as a rule, was long and of good strength. A large proportion of the samples were over-average in quality. At the same time there was much dry, weak flax as a result of unsuitable conditions of growth and damage sustained while handling.

The total area under flax in 1912 was 55,062 acres, as compared with 66,618 acres in 1911, a decrease of 11,556 acres. The total produce of the crop in 1912 was estimated at 2,072,901 stones, as against 1,798,481 stones in 1911, an increase of 274,420 stones.

The numbers of the various classes of live stock in 1912, and the changes as compared with 1911 have been

Live Stock. already published in the General Abstracts, and particulars as to the numbers of stock in each County and Poor Law Union in 1912 are shewn on pp. 98 et seq. of the present report.

The following table shows the changes in the total numbers of live stock which have taken place in the period 1851-1912. At the same time it will be remembered that statistics of numbers are only one index of change, and that the improvement in stock is equally if not more important.

A table showing the number of milch cows, including heifers in calf, in Ireland since 1854 will be found in table S, page 19, from which it will be seen that the number in recent years, while showing a considerable increase as compared with the period from 1880 to 1900, is still below the record of the years from 1857 to 1860. Meanwhile the total number of cattle having increased, the proportion of milch cows is considerably lower than in the earlier period.

In regard to live stock, compared with England, Scotland, and Wales, the outstanding features in Ireland are relatively the large number of cattle and the very small number of sheep. The following table shows the number of live stock in England, Wales, Scotland, and Ireland, in the year 1867 (from which date comparative statistics are available), in the Census years from 1871 and in the year 1912:—

In connection with the statistics of Live Stock, it is of interest

Exports of Live Stock. to see the changes in the numbers exported from Ireland to Great Britain and the Isle of Man. Considerable fluctuations occur from year to year, and the exports are shown in the following table for a period of ten years. The years taken are the periods of twelve months ended 31st May as the figures will thus best indicate one of the causes of increase or decrease in the numbers of live stock enumerated in Ireland on the 1st June.

According to the returns received there would appear to have been an increase of 37.0 per cent. in the quantity of honey produced in 1911 as compared with the preceding year; the returns for which showed an increase of 2.2 per cent. as compared with the quantity in 1909: The quantity of honey produced, according to the returns, was 611,303 lbs.; of this 181,354 lbs. were produced in the Province of Leinster, 133,387 lbs. in Munster, 204,784 lbs. in Ulster, and 92,778 lbs. in Connaught. Of the 611,303 lbs., 514,312 lbs. were produced in hives having movable combs, and 96,991 in other hives. It was stated that 160,704 lbs. were run honey, and 450,599 lbs. section honey. The number of stocks brought through the winter of 1911-1912 amounted to 30,015, of which 20,584 were in hives having movable combs, and 9,431 in other hives. According to the returns collected, there were 4,097 lbs. of wax manufactured in 1911, of which 3,408 lbs. were from hives having movable combs, and 689 lbs. from other hives.

In connection with the statistics of bee-keeping, it should be stated that from the nature of the case there is great difficulty in obtaining returns which approach completeness. The collection, therefore, of information by local societies of bee-keepers and their co-operation with the Department in making the returns as complete as possible is of great importance. Few countries have any satisfactory record of their production of honey, but with co-operation and organisation among bee-keepers the difficulties can be largely overcome.

FORESTRY.

Of the total area of Ireland, about 1·5 per cent. is under woods. The woods in England are 5·3 per cent., in Scotland 4·5, and in Wales 3·9 per cent. of the total areas.

Since 1851 (with the exception of the year 1852) the acreage under woods and plantations has been ascertained annually in connection with the Agricultural Statistics; but, until the year 1891, the total extent was the only information sought for, no particulars giving the kind of trees having been obtained. In that year returns giving the latter information were collected, and the returns were published in a table, showing, by counties, the distribution of the various descriptions of trees.

The following table shows the acreage returned as under woods and plantations in the year 1851, and in each year from 1853 to 1912, inclusive:—

In 1907 certain changes were introduced in the inquiries made with a view to ascertaining the area respectively under conifers and under broad-leaved trees, and likewise the area of mixed conifers and broad-leaved. The ages also of the plantations were ascertained as far as possible. A statistical summary of similar information obtained for 1912 is shown by provinces, counties, and for all Ireland on pp. 136 et seq.

In 1912, of the total extent of 298,735 acres in Ireland, 292,164 acres were returned as under forest trees, 5,558 acres as coppice or scrub, 421 acres as osier beds, and 592 acres as nursery plantations. Out of the total area of 298,735 acres, 91,586 acres were in Leinster, 98,769 acres in Munster, 58,475 acres in Ulster, and 49,905 acres in Connaught. In Leinster the largest area was in the Co. Wicklow, where 19,258 acres were returned. In Munster the largest areas were in the Counties of Cork and Tipperary, where 25,901 acres and 24,175 acres respectively were returned as under woodlands. In Ulster the largest total was in County Down, where the extent of woodlands was returned in 1912 at 12,734 acres. In Connaught much the largest area was in County Galway, where the total extent was returned at 23,165 acres. The returns further show that of the total area under woods, 95,519 acres consisted of conifers, larch, spruce, fir, pine, etc., 72,284 acres of broad-leaved trees, oak, ash, beech, sycamore, etc., while 124,361 acres were areas of mixed conifers and broad-leaved. It should be understood however, that it is not easy to ascertain accurately the area of woods or to distinguish them into even the above general classes, but special investigations made regarding the extent of existing woodland areas confirm the returns.

A further consideration of importance is the age of the existing woodlands. According to the returns furnished it would appear that of the above 292,164 acres returned as under forest trees, 21,194 acres were from 1 to 25 years, 45,702 of from 26 to 50 years, 43,385 as from 51 to 75 years, and 63,352 of 76 years and over, while with regard to an area of 118,531 acres, or roughly two-fifths of the total area, the trees were of various ages. Inquiry was also made in 1912 as to the areas under forest trees which were respectively closed and open, and it was ascertained that 218,934 acres were enclosed forest, while 73,230 were open woodland.

The inquiries relating to planting and felling operations instituted in 1891, and continued in the twenty following years were repeated in 1912. According to the returns, during the year ended 30th June, 1912, 961 acres were planted with trees, 32 acres less than the extent planted in the preceding year.

The number of trees returned as felled, both for clearance and for thinning plantations, amounted in 1912 to 737,400. The area returned as cleared is 1,828 acres. Of the trees felled 384,784 were used for mining purposes, 24,959 for railway purposes, 52,983 for paling, gates, etc., 2,792 for spools and bobbins, 23,369 for fuel, 97,445 for furniture and building purposes, 23,934 for carts, waggons, farm implements, etc., 2,925 for clog soles, 2,231 for ship and boat building, and 76,085 for butter and egg, etc., boxes and packing cases.

HOLDINGS AND OCCUPIERS.

One of the questions of greatest importance in the agricultural economy of the country is the distribution of land and the extent of cultivation on the different classes of land. The following table shows the number and size of holdings in 1913 in the four provinces and for all Ireland:—

Number and Size of Holdings in the Year 1913.

The information giving the number of holdings not exceeding one acre is mainly of interest from a social and economic point of view. So far as the purposes of agriculture are concerned, holdings not exceeding one acre may be excluded, for, apart from the difficulty to the enumerator of determining what plots of land not exceeding one acre may be regarded as agricultural, this class is mainly composed of gardens, labourers' allotments, &c., while the total area distributed amongst the 87,451 holdings is estimated to amount approximately to 40,000 acres. The great increase which has taken place since 1851 in the number of holdings not exceeding one acre is shown in the following table:—

Number of holdings not exceeding one acre, 1851-1912.

—	Leinster.	Munster.	Ulster.	Connaught.	Ireland.
1851,	16,017	9,488	6,950	6,273	37,728

1912,	30,644	27,587	22,035	7,185	87,451

From this statement it will be seen that of the 87,451 holdings returned as "not exceeding" one acre, 58,231 are in Leinster and Munster. During the past twenty years the increase in the number of these holdings has been especially marked in Leinster and Munster.

Apart from these small holdings of one acre and under, the total number of holdings as shown by Census periods since 1841 is as follows:—

Total number of holdings exceeding one acre, 1841-1912.

—	Leinster.	Munster.	Ulster.	Connaught.	Ireland.

1912,	104,562	115,830	181,780	119,167	521,345

From this table it will be seen that from 1841 to 1901 the total number of holdings exceeding one acre continued to fall, at first rapidly, later more slowly. Since 1901 the number of agricultural holdings has again slowly increased. The above table, showing the changes since 1841, may be compared with the following table, which brings out the stationary character of the last decade:—

With regard to the changes which have taken place in the number of holdings in the several classes, the outstanding feature within recent years has been the increase in the number of holdings between 15 and 100 acres. In 1912 the total number of holdings between 15 and 100 acres has increased by 7,526 as compared with the number in 1901. The main points in regard to the number and distribution of the several classes of holdings exceeding one acre may be briefly presented in the following summary :—

Distribution of Holdings.

Holdings above one and under five acres, amounting in 1912 to 62,266, are comparatively evenly distributed Above One and under among the four provinces. Ulster has 20,126, Five Acres. Leinster 17,338—a large proportion relative to its total number of holdings—Connaught and Munster respectively 11,940 and 12,862.

Holdings above five and not exceeding fifteen acres comprise the largest in number of the several classes of Above Five and not holdings in Ireland, amounting in 1912 to exceeding Fifteen 153,758. Regarding the number and proportion of these holdings there is a marked contrast between, on the one hand, Ulster and Connaught, and on the other hand, Leinster and Munster. In Ulster more than one-third of the total number of holdings over one acre belongs to this class, and in Connaught the proportion is still greater, whereas in Leinster such holdings amount to less than one-fourth, and in Munster to about one-sixth.

In 1912, holdings above fifteen and not exceeding thirty Acres. numbered 137,326. This class since 1851 has been in number rather stationary, gradually falling, and of recent years slightly increasing. As in the holdings between five and fifteen acres, so in those between fifteen and thirty acres, Ulster and Connaught have absolutely and proportionately a much larger number than Leinster or Munster. But in the present case the disparity is not so great, Ulster having 53,604 in 1912, Connaught 36,945, Munster 24,524, and Leinster 22,253.

It will thus be seen that in Ireland, out of a total of 521,345 holdings exceeding one acre, 353,350 are of a size not exceeding thirty acres.

The total number of holdings in this class amounted to 76,695 in 1912. The change has been slight since 1851, when the number was 70,093, and the increase has occurred mainly in Ulster and Connaught, and to a much less degree in Munster. In Leinster, on the other hand, this class has tended to decrease. The numbers for the several provinces in 1912 were as follows :—Ulster, 25,436 Munster, 22,803; Leinster, 15,496; Connaught, 12,960.

The total number of holdings in this class in 1912 was 59,258.

Above 50 and not exceeding 100 Acres. Since 1851, when there were 49,940 such holdings, there has been a considerable increase, but the past decade has done little more than maintain the number reached.

Munster has much the largest proportion of such holdings, viz., 23,380; Ulster, 14,845; Leinster, 14,434; Connaught, 6,599.

The total number of holdings in this class in 1912 was 22,738,

Above 100 and not exceeding 200 Acres. of which 9,484 were in Munster, 6,928 in Leinster, 3,662 in Ulster, 2,654 in Connaught. In 1851 the number was 19,753, and while in the earlier decades there was a considerable increase, in recent years a slight decrease has been evident.

In 1851 the number of these holdings was 7,847 (in 1861, however, Above 200 and not exceeding 500 Acres. the number was 8,329); in 1912 the number was 7,721. Of these there were in Leinster, 2,731; in Munster, 2,622; in Connaught, 1,393; and in Ulster, 975.

The number of these holdings increased from 1,457 in 1851 to 1,568 in 1871, and has with slight yearly

Holdings over 500 Acres. fluctuations remained comparatively stationary. In 1912 the number was 1,593. Of these there were in Connaught, 451; in Leinster, 436; in Munster, 391; and in Ulster, 315.

In general, regarding the changes in the size and distribution of the holdings in Ireland, three periods may be distinguished during the past sixty years. The first, in which change was catastrophic, had closed before the Census of 1851. The number of holdings between 1 and 15 acres in extent—amounting in 1841 to 563,235—was reduced roughly by half to 279,937 in 1851, while the number of holdings of an extent exceeding 15 acres was greatly increased. Holdings between 15 and 30 acres rose from 79,342 in 1841 to 141,311 in 1851. Holdings exceeding 30 acres rose from 48,625 in 1841 to 149,090 in 1851. The second period, extending from thirty to forty years after 1851, marked a decline in the number of holdings over 1 and not exceeding 30 acres, with a corresponding increase in the larger classes of holdings. In the third period, that of the past twenty years, excluding holdings not exceeding one acre, there has been a comparative absence of change. From year to year fluctuations are seen, but when the view stretches over a series of years no continuous change can as yet be discerned.

It will be observed from the study of the tables that Ulster is pre-eminently the province of small holdings. Altogether it had in 1912 only 19,797 holdings exceeding 50 acres in extent, whereas it contains 161,980 holdings of an extent above 1 and not exceeding 50 acres. Moreover, of these the greater number are between 5 and 30 acres in area. On the other hand, Munster is pre-eminently the province of holdings between 50 and 200 acres. In 1912, of its total number of holdings, exceeding one acre, viz., 115,830, no less than 32,864 were of a size above 50 and not exceeding 200 acres. In Leinster there is no such predominance of small or large holdings, but every class is well represented. Leinster has, however, the largest number of holdings, exceeding 200 acres. In Connaught the most striking feature is the contrast, marked even more strongly than in Ulster, between the large number of holdings from 5 to 30 acres in extent, and the small number between 30 and 100 acres. To the former class belong more than two-thirds of the total number of holdings in Connaught exceeding one acre, whereas of holdings from 30 to 100 acres there is a much smaller proportion than in any other of the provinces. On the other hand, Connaught has the largest number of holdings "above 500 acres."

In many instances landholders occupy more than one farm and in some other cases where farms extend into two or more townlands, the portion in each townland is enumerated and classified as a separate holding. With a view, therefore, of ascertaining the number of occupiers, and of classifying them according to the total extent of land held by each, each enumerator is required to furnish the name of every landholder residing in his district who has two or more farms, or whose farm extends into a townland or townlands outside his district, together with the area of each portion and the locality in which it is situated. From the number of actual occupiers thus arrived at, it appears that in 1912 there were 608,796 holdings in the hands of 552,894 occupiers—the number of occupiers in Leinster being 119,615, in Munster 128,430, in Ulster 188,408, and in Connaught 116,441.
